Village of Tallard.

ADIEU TO THE HAUTES ALPES.

Quaint Old Town of tinp, Which Became More Delightful with Every Added Day's Acquaintance.

MARSEILLES, Aug. 30.—Should a happy chance take you to the Hautes Alpes Saturday nights to go to our cafe-in of France, where the head waters of the Durance gather up the melted snow which is served to the city of Marseilles, I should advise you to visit Tallard. The story goes that the chateau at Tallard, now a majestic ruin, whose the appointment will necessitate my res jagged walls command the whole vailey, had a tower for every month, a door for every week, a window for every day, and a stair for every hour in the year. then we drove back to Gap. We left Gap consumed with the regret that comes to those who part with friends. We learned to know it fairly well, and to like it all the better for close aquaintance. We missed the funeral of General died in the "hospice" but we heard that it was a grand, brave sight, and we mouraed in consequence.

There was a certain old newsgirl with a frog-like voice who was permitted to enter the dining room of our hotel and sell her /ares. We took a personal interest in the variety of caps and gowns that this grim relic of antiquity introduced, and used to deny ourselves the news for hours in order to buy of her. It gave us never failing delight to hear 'Intransigeant," as she passed around. After having addressed us individually she invariably turned upon us with a sternly reproachful look when she reached the door, announced aloud, "Intransigeant," and disappeared.

We found that it was the landlord's daughter who sang duets with "M. l'Inspecteur General," in the salon, and learned from her that it was the custom of the people to provide their daughters with trousseaux when they reached the marriageable age, whether matrimony was in sight or not.

Sometimes we followed the town crier who blew his blast and shouted aloud the laws and the ordinances for good old Gap. When last we heard him he was fixing the price of bread.

Oftentimes we saw the bishop and clergy come forth from the episcopal residence headed by a beautiful beadle and march to the cathedral, chanting all

The Army Needs Reorganizing.

Washington, Sept. 10.-[By Associated Press]-General Miles came to the war department at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and, after spending a short time in his room at army headquarters, went to the office of the secretary of war. Acting Secretary Meiklejohn was at the desk of Secretary Alger and was talking with Governor Atkinson, of Georgia and Adjutant General Corbin when General Miles entered. The latter was accompanied by a member of his staff. After the gentle? men had shook hands and the business with the governor was trans. acted Mr. Meiklejohn and General Miles chatted for some time on general topics of the campaign in Porto Rico and the return trip of the commanding general. Shortly afterward General Miles left the department. He said later that it was his intention to recommend a plan of reorganization to congress and that he believed the necessity for it would be recognized by the public and by congress.

The war with Spain has practically ended but a war between two commercial giants is just beginning. The coffee importing firm of Arbuckle Brothers has taken up the refining of sugar, and the American Sugar Refining Company has gone into the business of roasting coffee. Free traders and other calamity howlers are asserting that the bond issue was not needed for the payment of war debts, but to hide a deficiency in peace revenues. These assertions are only consistent with the well known policy of narrow minded demagogues who have endeavored from the first to prove that the Dingley law has been a failure, but they fall particularly flat when one calls to mind the deficits under the Wilson tariff and the forced issue of $300,000,000 in bonds in peaceful times, which, by the comotive Engineers and Firemen. way, were not sold to the people, but tu ned over to the bankers. A comparison of receipts under the Dingley law for the first six months of 1898 and the expenditures for the same period in 1897 shows that had peace prevailed the Dingley law would now have the credit of having accumulated a surplus of $7,000,000.

Discussing the Situation.

Family Should be Constantly on Hand While the Investigation is in Progress-The Indignation Meeting.

Frank X. Kracker, of No. 33 Borden avenue, a brother of Leopold Kracker, who, it now seems certain, was murdered in the vicinity of Pittsburg on July intended to call the relatives of the deceased together for the purpose of deciding what should be done. "Somebody ought to go down there," said Mr. Kracker, "to see that what has been commenced will not be dropped where it is. My son John is working in that neighborhood, but of course he has not the time to look after the matter as it should be looked after. When we get insures a healthy and robust baby. Thoustogether we will try and get up a plan by which one or the other of us can go like Ross township and nothing at all be justice.' The widow of Leopold Kracker is suffering more keenly now than at any time since the news of her husband's death was first received in Massillon. She has been in Pittsburg, but is now at her home at 45 West Tremont street. In looking over the papers found on Mr. Kracker's person she discovered a small slip on which was written: "45 West Tremont street. Married." The writing was not that of Mr. Kracker, for he was versed only in the German language, neither was it her own. All this greatly worries Mrs. Kracker. She is of the opinion this paper was placed in her husband's coat pocket by his assailants, and the fact that the address is correcttly given is to her proof that the murder-

Nothing has been heard from John Kracker, jr., who, if he obeyed the wishes of his relatives, attended the in dignation meeting of Ross township residents last night. The meeting adopted resolutions demanding that the people be given the protection to which they are entitled, that a constable be immediately appointed to fill the vacancy that has existed for more than six months, and that something be done to check the now unrestrained lawlessness, which is present in various forms from murder to the illicit selling of liquor. The assembly laid the matter on the table. Action will be taken at the next meeting. In the meantime the delegates will confer with their constituents regarding the affair. The stonecutters seem to be of the opinion that if brought to the notice of the government, something in their favor might be done. They want the assembly to assist in doing this. A committee of members of the Military band was also present. Matters pertaining to the recent pionic and the proceeds were discussed, which brought out the fact that the time is not yet ripe for a division of the money.

James Wood, vice president of the Cigarmakers' International Union, who arrived in Massillon yesterday, addressed the assembly. He talked on subjects most important and interesting to the trades unionist. Mr. Wood will remain in Massillon for some time, and will do what he can to increase the local demand for goods bearing the union label.

one referring to the president was first scene of most enthusiastic demonstrations and it reads as follows:

Resolved. That the Grand Army of the Republic has watched with pride and satisfaction the wise, conservative, unselfish, patriotic and statesmanlike manner in which our honored comrade, William Mc-Kinley, as president of the United States, has met every demand which the recent trouble with Spain imposed upon our country; that his wisdom and prudence in his endeavors to preserve peace with honor, as well as the vigor and patriotic order with which our army and navy were equipped for the conflict, when the war became imminent, have won our hearty and unreserved approval and commenda-tion; and, rejoicing in the glorious termipation of the consist in which our counir/ has been engaged, we hereby express our gratitude, not only to our dist nguished comrade, the president, but also to the officers and men in the land and naval forces for their heroic conduct and sublime achievements for humanity and the glory of our flag and country.

As soon as the demonstration following the adoption of this resolution was over the following was read and adopted by a unanimous vote, without discussion and with another demonstration of approval:

Resolved, That from knowledge formed of our experience as soldiers during four vears of active service, we recognize the unfaltering energy and patriotic devotion with which, as secretary of war, General Alger has borne the weighty respon-ibilities and performed the important duties suddenly imposed by the recent war with Spain, creating and maintaining so large an army under such unfavorable condi-tions, the deeds of which not only shed luster on the American soldiers but also challenged the admiration of the world.

The resolutions on pensions condemned the present administration of the office. In referring to the policy of Commissioner Evans there appeared the following closing sentence which referred indirectly to the president:

idea. The islands will be divided into municipal districts, having control, under restrictions and limitations, of purely local affairs.

The question of territorial legislature has been fully settled. There will probably be one, but with limited powers. All the attributes of sovereignty, however, will be exercised by the national government of the United States. The people of Hawaii will be called on to consider themselves Americans, look ing to the national government as a source of national power. In local affairs they will have the opportunity of exercising the highest tribute of American citizenship, local self-government.

It is pretty clear from what has been said by members of the committee from time to time in framing a form of government for these islands, they have also been charged with the administration at Washington with forming a model which can be adapted to Porto Rico and other new possessions the war has brought the United States.

The commutee is trying to so shape its work as to be able to conclude its labors Sept. 20. The visiting members will in that case, be able to return to mainland by the steamer of Sept. 23. THE EIGHTH RETURNS. Canton and Massillon Boys Greeted by Thousands, CANTON, Sept. 8.-The Eighth Ohio Volunteer infantry returned from Mon-L. reaching Canton via the C., C. & S. railway at 10:05 a. m. For an hour previous to the arrival of the troops whistles were blown to advise citizens of their coming and fully 10,000 persons assemstreet was completely blocked by the throng and it was with great difficulty that sufficient space was cleared to permit the passage of the soldiers and their escort, Canton troops and the Grand Army band.

At times the gallant hoys were completely enveloped in the surging mass of humanity, so eager were the citizens to demonstrate their welcome. Carriages were provided for the sick and willing hands tenderly carried them from the Pullman car, which was provided for their comfort. A majority of the members of each company were in line, however, and although some were scarcely able to stand erect, they bravely shouldered their accoutrements and marched to quarters. With the column under way the band played "Home, Sweet Home," and a sight of the pinched features of the formerly strong and robust fellows brought tears to the eyes of the strongest. Relatives completely broke down after greeting their dear ones, not being prepared for the sunken eyes and shrunken forms charge of the department of the street of the fever victims. march to the armory. East Tuscarawas All Property Owners Not Ramed in the Original Petition-Canton Elks Attend Albert M. Wetter's Circus-Soldiers Overload Their Stomachs.

> CANTON, Sept. 10.-A motion to dismiss the petition in the condemnation case of the trustees of the Massillon state hospital vs. James R. Dunn and others, was argued before Judge Wise this morning. The motion was filed by Lawyers Baldwin & Young and G. L. Baldwin, representing the Jarvis estate, Chas. Strobel and Chas. Heckman, and requests dismissal on the grounds that all owners of property involved were not named in the original petition. With the exception of the Schriver heirs all owners of property through which the right of way for the asylum switch passes, are up in arms to oppose the appropriation tactics resorted to by the trustees, Lawyer R. A. Pinn being retained by th Bachtel heirs. The state is represented by Attorney General Monnet and R. W. McCaughey.

> At request of Lawver R. W. Mc-Caughey the final argument of the motion was continued until next Wednesday morning.

> A special performance was given by Albert M. Wetter's dog and pony show this morning, for the Elks, of Canton. The latter assembled at the square, at 10 o'clock, and marched in the rear of the parade to the tents, in West Tuscarawas. Several of the Elks were astride the camels, from the streets of Cairo.

> Since the arrival of the Eighth Ohio in Canton, many of the members have been taken ill and some seriously so. The physicians in attendance attribute the cause to overeating and the radical change of temperature.

The will of Caroline Baus, of Massillon, has been filed for probate. The first parual account has been filed in the estate of Peter Graber, of Perry township. Application to probate will has been continued in the estate of Wendlin Mackerly, of Jackson township. A motion to compell the guardian of Sadie Mock, of Massillon, to file account has been allowed. Sale bill has been filed in the estate of Mary Thompson, of Sugar Creek township. A final account has fined for doing what any gentleman been filed in the estate of Daniel Lash,
